Greetings, all.....

I was recently gifted a G.Loomis Synchronotech 8-9-10 reel. The reel was never used, not even spooled. I was impressed with the quality of this reel. Solid construction, nice finish and -surprise, surprise- made in the USA !! Nothing fancy, just what appears to be a useable heavy freshwater or light/mid saltwater reel. One problem... no instructions, warranty or any paperwork. It seems Loomis is no longer making or contracting out this line of reels. Taken over by Shimano ? I've looked high and low online and can find no schematics, drawings or manuals. The only small task I'd like to accomplish here is switching from left to right hand retrieve with this reel, if possible. Any small tidbit or suggestion would be very much appreciated !
