I'm posting this for people who might be interested in the order time for these boxes.

My order was in the que for fifty weeks. During that time, I had questions about the order and made some changes. Each time, Bob Hegedus, the owner of the company, was quick to respond by email within two days. Once my order came up, Bob completed the box within about a week. Given that this is a one-man operation, I consider this good service.
