

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : How well known to the public is didymo?

Re: How well known to the public is didymo?

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2013/9/2 8:50:06

URL:

Pure speculation on my part.....but my guess would be that the non-angling public is almost entirely unaware of the problem and that, even among recreational users of affected waterways that don't fish (such as canoe/kayak companies), there is probably very limited awareness of it. In Maryland, one sees a lot of educational signs posted at boat launches and parking areas and a similar, old school notification system would be good here in PA.