Its mind over matter. Rafters, kayakers, tubers don't mind if Didymo over-runs a river because it don't matter to their pursuit.

They are just looking for a place to put in and take out. In her case, just booking clients and getting them down river safely. What is under the water is unimportant to that goal.

I find that floaters have little regard for the health of a river if it requires effort beyond pulling a boat to or off a river.
