

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : fastest route to huntington

Re: fastest route to huntington

Author: : FiveWeight

Date: : 2013/9/3 12:37:38

URL:

Water was pretty low this past week. But it changes pretty quickly with rain. Our camp sits right at point Access on the Juniata. I fished it from the point up towards camp on Saturday for about a 1/4 mile towards Huntingdon. Caught 9 Red Eye and a slew of Blue Gill. Better bass'n Right off the point and down river towards Mill Creek. If you put in at the hydro plant at Warrior Ridge you'll be able to float it all the way down through to Mill Ck with maybe a half dozen or so places you gotta drag it for a bit. That is if the water stays like was last week/weekend. It's not a question of the J being big enough. Your looking at a river that is 200 to 300+ft wide in places. The question is is depth in the riffs when the water is low. Have fun.