Max,

Terrestrials work well across PA in the autumn months and are good searching patterns on technical streams (like Slate and Cedar) that are low and clear with no obvious bug activity. I'd have some beetles, flying ants, wet ants, and maybe a cricket or hopper or two. Small bees or hornet flies are sleepers and work very well for me in the Sep-Oct time frame.

Any good sized streamer flies and maybe a sink tip line will allow you to bomb Pine Creek for big trout or smallies.

Good luck with your trip - let us know how you made out.
