Squatch, I'd e-mail Richardson directly.

I have the black nylon straps that came with, they criss-cross in the back. They're still pretty narrow but the box is light, so it's not a big deal for me. I could see that if I were a different shape, how they could dig into the neck a little. Might be the same as yours. But you're welcome to have a look the next time we run across each other. I'm sure Richardson would supply you with a set for a reasonable price.

They also sell canvas ones, and you can get pouches for those. Better design, no neck digging I wouldn't think. You can get the same design in Amish leather, which look real nice. You can buy both from Richardson, separate from the box, though I imagine the leather one's are a bit pricy.
