Some people rant and rave over the big box stores, I spend every penny I can locally at small shops to help the areas economy but I shop some at big box stores as well such as Cabela's. Cabela's started as the owner selling flies and other hunting/fishing equipment out of his garage, he pursued his business into what it is today. Nothing wrong with that, if I owned my own business and it had its chances to grow, you bet you your ass I would let it grow.
