NHanes, I fly fish, spin fish, and bait caster fish in Fresh and Saltwater and I match the tackle to the type and weight of the lures/flyes. I have not use bait in 35 years and only use barbless hooks and I have probably killed about 3 trout in that 35 years. You are welcomed to your opinion, but my time is limited and truly huge brown trout don't get big chasing bugs when there are not many of them in the River. The size of the streamers I would need would require a fly set up that I would not enjoy using or am very good at casting since I don't do it very often.
