

Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : Help Stock The Yough!

Re: Help Stock The Yough!

Author: : grobe33

Date: : 2013/9/7 7:37:34

URL:

Your right they made a mistake on the Flyer, those fish would be yearling trout.

The other organization that stocks 10,000 fish??? I'm assuming you mean just the 1 mile section from the dam down to the Cassleman and LH??? I would say 70% of those fish get killed by meat hunters, it would be nice if they spread those fish out. The stocking needs to occur in the TT water.

Not sure what you mean by water quality?? The Yough has some of the healthiest/fattest fish in the state hands down. In order for that to happen the bug life and water quality must be really good.....and it is.

Anyway like I said above I just wanted to get the word out in case anyone wanted to attend, we can start another topic in regards to how to manage the Yough properly

Albatross,

I always wonder if people from this board still look at my blog....glad your still following! I stopped posting on here a while ago for different reasons, but when my buddy wanted to get the word out about his shoot I figured there would be no better place then this forum.