Just seems to be me instead of reinventing the wheel, why not work with those that have a presence and a history of doing good things for the Yough?

Albud, everyone has their own agenda for a waterway. This should not surprise you. Do what you do from your perspective and be proud. Those that are trying to help in their own way should be left alone. This will not harm the fishery, and it could help. I am certain that the Musky that inhabit that river enjoy the fingerling meals they regularly are served.
