

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Proper decon to kill potentially invasive species

Re: Proper decon to kill potentially invasive species

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2013/9/10 15:58:30

URL:

With felts, it wouldn't be overkill to bleach, rinse and then thoroughly dry afterwards. They aren't mutually exclusive processes. This way, if the drying isn't thorough, you probably are going to be OK.