Last winter, I paid $129 at Sierra Trading Post for a Wright & McGill Bighorn Wading Jacket. Roomy cut so it's easy to move in and to layer under. Good cuffs to keep out (most) of the water when you get your forearms into the river. Hood big enough to fit over fishing hat. Great weatherproofing. Nice, big flybox pockets high on chest. "Handwarmer" slash pockets that I often get soaked. And, it looks righteous on the river or in a "Fisherman's Refreshment Zone."

As you might have inferred -- I really like this jacket.
