

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Proper decon to kill potentially invasive species

Re: Proper decon to kill potentially invasive species

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2013/9/11 14:01:04

URL:

No felts, dry atmosphere. Just clean the mud off with water, and let em dry for a day or two before using them here. I don't think you're gonna track anything from LV.

That said, once here is where you have to be a little careful, going from stream to stream. Didymo is the one that's currently getting headlines, and we're trying not to spread it to streams that don't yet have it, or at least slow that spread. And our streams are pretty close, so it's not uncommon for anglers to fish several within a day or two.