I built my oven using a mica strip heater about a 100.00 13 years ago. I only built my oven that way because of the glue I was using so I could set the glue with several hours of low heat. You are only looking at 7 or 8 minutes for heat treatment (375 degrees) and some builders don't even heat treat their bamboo. The cheapest way to heat treat is a heat gun oven and you can find several diagrams and material lists on the web. You will need a good heat gun any way.
