No doubt, stripers are becoming one of my favorite species to chase with flies. I'll add that I'm jealous you have the opportunity to fish Montauk. If you've got space, DEFINITELY bring a rod with you.

But we are approaching prime time for fall fishing, and from what I've heard/read (never actually been there), that place can be a war zone when the fish are in close. Crowded and not the place to be whipping a fly rod around.

If you go, I would plan on doing some walking and finding some open space. Or even better, hire a guide if you have the time/money. It's on my bucket list for sure.

Bring anchovy flies.
