Mikes right there. Large head super skinny body usually means old age. That fish is fat putting the fall feed on. More and likely it dyed of a deep or guy hook, poor handling IE gilling or a lactic acid build up from a long fight with a angler. This usually happens when it's a incidental hook up. Like if your using a trout rod or bass fishing. Better to land a musky "green" than burn it out and try to revive it.
