

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Altoona Area

Re: Altoona Area

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2013/9/17 16:02:19

URL:

LJR is your closest "famous" water. Headwaters almost make it right into Altoona, but you probably wanna cut through the mountain and fish it downstream. Half hourish to the famous spots, slightly less for the less famous spots.

The Allegheny front is to your west. Lots of little cuts and so forth come down off of it, most of which contain wild fish. Small stream fishin, but not knowing that area super well, it's probably pretty good.

Canoe Creek and the Frankie (Frankstown Branch) are close.