

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : To tie one on or not?

Re: To tie one on or not?

Author: : chromid

Date: : 2013/9/18 8:48:10

URL:

I've been tying my own for about 25 years and enjoy it almost as much as being streamside. There is something in common about sitting at the tying table when the snow and winds are blowing and being alone on the stream at the right time.....maybe it is just an extension of the whole Flyfishing experience.

I always have plenty of just about everything and not a season goes by where I haven't had opportunity to share a fly or two with someone who hasn't quite got the proper match in their box.