

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Fall surf reports

Re: Fall surf reports

Author: : Fredrick

Date: : 2013/9/19 1:13:29

URL:

Quote:

marcq wrote:

got out this morning it was looking great. great white water high tide right at sunrise and NW winds. start working the beach. nothing bit. then we started working a inlet found some mullet. right after seeing them my buddy hooked into a 5 pound blue. had a bunch of bites. one fish took me into my backing in a matter of seconds then came unbuttoned. didn't actually land one but we had fish breaking in front of us and there is nothing more you can ask for. just one of these days. might try to get out Friday night.

Marc not sure if it would worked in this situation but sometimes when they are busting on the bait like that it works better to cast and let the fly dift like a stunned baitfish