

Subject: : Hatch and Entomology Forum

Topic: : What's on the surface

Re: What's on the surface

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2013/9/19 7:50:44

URL:

Quote:

krayfish wrote:
flying ants? midges?

^ Yep - especially midges.

Another possibility would be trico spinners. They're regarded as a morning hatch but this time of year, with the cold mornings we have had lately, they can be on the water all afternoon, esp in slack, shoreline eddies.