I have been tying almost 30 years. I find it very relaxing after a stressful day. I'm long past the idea that tying your own is cheaper than buying but it allows me to try different materials and ideas. I like to take my tying kit with me when I travel. I went a couple times out to Montana and was able to whip out a whole bunch of flies and that did save me money. I will buy flies if I am at a new spot at the local fly shop. The people in the shop are more likely to give you info if you drop some coin. We have tying nights twice a month at our TU chapter which are a lot of fun and a great way to share information.
