

---

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Old rod: what line weight do I use on it?

Re: Old rod: what line weight do I use on it?

Author: : moon1284

Date: : 2013/9/19 21:23:15

URL:

tups, you are wrong. there were no 8'6 4 wts in the 60s. there were probably no graphite rods in the 60s either, definitely no graphite h and is. you are also wrong about wf/dt. plenty of rods are labeled for dt and wf lines and the wf is always the heavier of the two. there is no grey area here, you are wrong on both statements. the rod is probably a 7 or 8 wt. those are the weights I'd start out with. with that being said, fish it with whatever line feels best.