it was my dad's and I intend on at least giving it the dignity of catching fish with it.

I would fish that rod too.

Thanks a lot. I don't want to give the impression that my dad has died and passed this down by inheritance. My old man is alive and well, it's just that he has had this rod for years and simply decided it was time to give it to me since it never would get used otherwise. It's high time this old horse saw the track again.

Speaking of which, I'll try to post some pics of the full rod when I get back home. It really is in pretty good shape.
