

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Reel seat question - Sage

Reel seat question - Sage

Author: : Big-Bass

Date: : 2013/9/20 10:52:00

URL:

I ended up picking up an excellent condition ZXL 5 weight from a forum member that I have been enjoying now for just about a week or so and noticed last night while fishing that my Lamson Litespeed 2 was a little loose on the reel seat of the Sage. The hardware on the rod is high quality stuff and I have seen reels loosen on lower quality stuff, but is there a reel that has a thinner foot that might fit better and still balance the rod? I was thinking a Sage 3200 or something but any suggestions are open. I may wait to see if it re-loosens, but I swear I tightened it fully when I mounted the reel on the rod. Thanks for the help.