

Subject: : Fly Fishing Locations

Topic: : Schuylkill River: Continues to return from the dead: wild ST

Re: Schuylkill River: Continues to return from the dead: wild ST

Author: : The_Sasquatch

Date: : 2013/9/20 11:01:56

URL:

Quote:

wgmiller wrote:

Quote:

Mike wrote:

One question I would have for you to ponder is why would anglers want agencies to create a trout fishery in a warm river and not in a nearby one that is cold?

That's definitely a rhetorical question!

I lived in Pottsville for a few years and with the lengthy history of mining in that area, it's nice to see that a stream could support wild trout.

On a side note, until I read Dave's reply, I was unsure exactly what "ST" referred to. Salvelinus Trout?

Yeah brook trout. I had this conclusion too. BT is brown trout, so obviously referring to brookies as BT doesn't work!