

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Steelhead 2013-2014 Thread

Re: Steelhead 2013-2014 Thread

Author: : PatrickC

Date: : 2013/9/20 15:30:23

URL:

If we get the 1-2 inches of rain projected, there will be fish around. The big frustrating thing with rains like being projected for today and tomorrow, this time of year, when it's bone dry...an inch and a half of rain sounds like a lot, but it won't do as much as you hope for. That being said, your best best is to watch the camera at Uncle Johns. If you see it blow out...there will be SOME fish to be had. If it doesn't blow, those same 200 fish that the locals have been pounding on all week will be all there are.

Trust me bro...I have my fingers crossed too. What we really need is several days of nice steady soakers and the temps to stay cool. In any event, if these rains happen, it will move some fish in. Here's to hoping!