I am still looking for a source for closed cell foam to tie up Brad Bohlen's Sponge Bob Square Head. I know some of the other more experienced guys on here have had success with it. If you browse this thread there is a good example of a balsa wood poppr as well. I have a couple other foam patterns I am looking to tie up, one is a bass pattern I am going to enlarge. I'll post them when I'm done. The guys over at flyobsession.com have some interesting top water prototype patterns. Kool blog too
