

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : problems with epoxy

Re: problems with epoxy

Author: : fishingnoob

Date: : 2013/9/22 21:41:29

URL:

Good advice Dave. What sucks is that I have to epoxy all the flies at once because if not I waste a funnel tube that mixes/makes it easy to disperse the epoxy since it will harden in the tube over time. I personally am leaning on a way to make this whole thing easier, that being loon's UV finish, but I really can't afford it at this time (just bought a set of tires). I might use a hairdryer to enhance the drying time next time I apply if it'll help.