Those fish showed up after the bad floods this Summer.

Multiple times after floods I've seen this on Clarks.

I think the upside to the bluegill etc. is that it is going to push some of those 16-18" fish into the 20"+ class.

I never figured trout to be much of a threat to sunfish considering the size of the trouts mouths, until I watched two attack one and litterally tear it in half on Clarks.

What a way to go. It was so savage I remember feeling a hint of remorse for the little feller.
