You probably will see some of the better fish in this stream (mid teens from what I've gathered in this thread and others) turn into upper teens fish for a couple of years thanks to the influx of "big fish" food.

I agree. I want to see a 20"+ from this creek. 19" is the largest I have seen. Hopefully this pushes them a little further. The good news is that the fish are always fat and healthy. And they will continue to be that way.
