If I offended you, you certainly have my apologies.

I don't offend easily, but thanks anyway. I was just busting your chops.

It did make me think about how I must have looked on Penns creek using my bamboo steelhead rod when I had a 5/6 plastic rod in my truck. I figured it was OK though since in my hands it really doesn't look like a 7 weight. 😊

But for your penance, if you ever fish at my farm, you will be required to fish with a Zebco 202 using garden hackle and a round plastic strike indicator for the first few minutes. The Zebco, and strike indicator will be provided for you.

I fished many a Zebco 202 in my childhood. It was my first reel on the Zebro crappie rod. I still have the rod. Not sure whatever happened too the reel.

As for the creek... I assumed you knew the creek based on where you live. You know all of the other creeks in western PA.
