I do not have any feedback for the Allen reels. I have used the Ross Canyons since they came out. I have had no issues with them. I've used them from the Great Lakes Tribs to the salt. I've had one fall off the roof of a moving vehicle with only a little road rash and it still works fine. The Momentum will do just as fine although I think it has too much porting for a BG reel. Also, don't look past the CLA's. The larger sizes can handle the bigger fish.
