Rleep sums it up nicely.

If I were a real biologist, doing real biologist nonsense that required me to sample the actual food fish were eating, then maybe.

I'm not. I'm a guy in rubber pants waving a stick in the air. At what point am I just being a jackhole and torturing animals so I can be an elite fisherman?

Pretty sure the stomach pump is about it.

Keep some perspective about what you're actually doing.
