

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : White Wulff fly tying video

Re: White Wulff fly tying video

Author: : jeremymcon

Date: : 2013/9/24 10:02:03

URL:

Quote:

tctrout wrote:

Thanks for the comments, guys. Jeremy, your flies look great, for sure! You mentioned only using part of the hackle; what brand/quality of hackle are you using? That plays a large role in flies, especially Catskill-style.

TC

I bought metz genetic necks, grade 2, I think. I don't really know how much of the feather I should be able to use. As it goes down toward the base it gets broader and webbier, so I only use the top 2 or 3 inches of a feather that is like 5 or 6 inches long from the base of the stem to the tip.