

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Steelhead 2013-2014 Thread

Re: Steelhead 2013-2014 Thread

Author: : PatrickC

Date: : 2013/9/25 8:19:28

URL:

Scouted around the majority of the PA tribs yesterday (long day). We still need a whole bunch of rain.

There are certainly fish on Elk. The water levels have dropped to the point that the majority of the fish are in the expected deep pools swimming in circles waiting for the next rain. Was able to get 2 of them in that situation to chase a streamer all day. There were a handful of fish in some moving water at day light that did hit dead drifted streamers, egg patterns, and one on a nymph.

The Miles Creeks are trickling. There are some fish in the lower creeks swimming in circles. Not much at all going in the middle sections.

If you live close, I guess it's not a total waste of time to fish at daylight, but it would be an absolute waste of time to drive any distance to Erie at this point. Right now there is not any SIGNIFICANT rain in the 10 day forecast. Hang tight, once we get some rain it will improve.