That's very nice to send a demo rod. If you send a fast action, you'll have people say they wish you would have sent the medium action rod.... and vise versa. I'm interested in checking out the faster action model. A while back, I wanted to pick up an Echo 2 because of the spare tip idea. Ended up be discontinued / sold out before I could grab one. The spare tip feature really caught my eye and that is a huge plus.

Is there any chance you can send one of each model? This would give the participants a chance to compare the two models side by side.

Hopefully we'll get some pictures of the rods with fish before the "Alby factor" happens. LOL.
