here a late report was down last week. full moon big tides and clear skies. to say the least it sucked. no fish in the area I ripped my waders and broke my 10. almost positive the guy I brought with me stepped of it. last time he comes. talked to a friend today who was going down tonight, he said the bite has been dying off. still bait around but most of the mullet are gone. went and got a new TFO BVK 10 today getting it next week. hopefully thing start happening soon so we can get some consistent bass fishing in.
