

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Is making your own leaders worth the trouble?

Re: Is making your own leaders worth the trouble?

Author: : BelAirSteve

Date: : 2013/9/28 23:39:39

URL:

I haven't bought a leader for about 3 or 4 years - been fly fishing for about 6 years. I enjoy it, and tend to tie a few at a sitting, while watching a movie or something. It's also part of my preparation the night before I go fishing.

Like others have said, I don't do it necessarily to save money, I just enjoy it. If you do start, I STRONGLY recommend investing in a blood know tool.