

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Tying my own steelhead leader.

Re: Tying my own steelhead leader.

Author: : CRB

Date: : 2013/9/29 10:20:18

URL:

I save the thick part of an older mono leader(most often maxama) I have used during the summer add about 4' of 0 x mono then @ 6' of 3 x floro. I check the length according to the knot distance and add/subtract as needed. if needed will go down to 5 x floro depending on conditions. as pcray1231 states the mono is the shock absorber also use a softer tip rod.