

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Is making your own leaders worth the trouble?

Re: Is making your own leaders worth the trouble?

Author: : geebee

Date: : 2013/9/30 20:00:32

URL:

Quote:

pcray1231 wrote:

The knot that I have trouble with is the line-->leader connection, which is gonna be there whether it's store bought or not. I do use the Loon product to smooth it up, and it helps.

pc - I use rod wrapping silk over the nail knot and then 3 coats of softex to provide a smooth flexible connection.

that prevents hinging on the cast and the line connection hanging up on the top eye with a big fish on.