I actually lost a pair on the Donegal, the summer of the big flood Was it Tropical storm Lee? and after the flood was down there checking out the damage and doing a little fishing and found them in a new gravel bar. Usually just get the cheep ones, but I keep them on a retractor now and haven't lost any since. Used to just keep them clipped onto a strap. I like them for removing tiny flies and ones inside the mouth. Not as much trauma as trying to get my big fingers in there.
