I am surprised to hear so few people use them.
i have about 4 cheap pairs and lose one a month just about.

i use cheap ones since i like to use them for tying on flies, and this is easier when not attached to a retractor.

i can clamp the hemostats on the hook bend, thread the eye, give the hemostats a spin and i have a fast clinch knot with lots of turns.

also a must-have when i go fishing near home for sunfish since they hit the hoppers and poppers so hard and inhale.
