^it is, and there are pools upstream and downstream from this. We are talking about 10-20 yards between pools, not a 1/2 mile of riffles. The area under the bridge in the first picture is about 5+ ft deep, and the engineer who was onsite supervising the whole project left part of the pool below the dam intact. It was to deep for a guy in chest waders. I am glad this project is getting so much attention, it is a big improvement over what it was, and it was done correctly.
