You can fish at distance without an indicator if you fish directly upstream and retrieve the line quickly enough to keep it relatively taught. However, an indicator works just as good if not better at distance. Czech nymphing works best in deeper runs and pools where you can get pretty close. If the water is clear and the fish will spook, you will need to be stealthy and sight nymph to th w/out an indicator looking for the fish to open its mouth or make a quick motion towards your nymph.
