

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : PA Fracking

Re: PA Fracking

Author: : evw659

Date: : 2013/10/3 13:26:31

URL:

my brother just told me about that. Its kind of a coincidence that they are dumping it into blacklick, being that it's one of the more polluted streams in west central pa, and doesnt really get fished or have any oversight. Its just a little radium, right? half life of 1600 years, so it will continue to bioaccumulate for a very long time. These are the kinds of things the state should be enforcing but aren't because they are bought by the industry.