I left a cell phone on the tonneau cover of my truck once, and drove off. Drove back there, looked all over, didn't find it. A week later, bought a new phone. Nearly a month later, a package arrived from Verizon. It was my old phone. Someone had found it, battery dead no doubt, so they got no info from it. They took it to a Verizon store, who matched it to me, and shipped it back to me. It still worked fine.

Good luck on the reel.
