Theodore Roosevelt one said "Tread lightly and carry a big stick". I got the stick (fly rod) but I'm having trouble with the first part.

After a year of learning how to sneak up on brookies, I finally got a pair of studded click-clackers to spook them with. I seriously watched a fish take off under a stump as soon as my studs landed on a rock. Unfortunately my local frestoners won't allow me to cast from any distance.

My studs aren't removable.... any tips other than buying new boots?
