Good to know! I'm slowly getting my daughter into camping, and French Creek isn't too far from the thriving metropolis of Ephrata. My wife and I have discussed going to French Creek for camping for quite some time.

Bear in mind squatch sightings are rare in those parts, so you might get a bit more attention there that you normally would in rural parts of PA.

None the less it is a nice place to camp. Fishing is pretty good to, and I am familiar with some places, but you I don't want to get reviled for "spot burn"....
