Well...I have to say unfortunately, this isn't going to be about how awesome my musky afternoon was today....it was rough..no follows..only saw one musky and he wasn't eating, he was a low to mid 30's..the reason why I am posting this is because I was working a log jam on a bridge piling in the middle of the stream. and I am two hand stripping a black and purple double beuford..out from underneath the log a smallie comes and absolutely crushes my fly...keep in mind this smallmouth just hammered and i mean hammered AN 11in FLY!!! It was epic and my biggest smallmouth this year and on the fly...she stole the day
